"Fashion you can buy, but style you possess. The key to style is knowing who you are, which ideas yours. There is no how-to read map to style. It is about self-expression and above all, attitude."

Style is the only thing you can't buy. It's a feeling, a feeling that comes from within, a feeling that is not just about the clothes you wear, but about the way you live. It's a feeling that is not just about the clothes you wear, but about the way you live. It's a feeling that is not just about the clothes you wear, but about the way you live.
